

Jim Ferretti brings a unique combination of experience and passion to his role as the Oregon State USBC Association Manager. A lifelong bowler and seasoned journalist, Jim's diverse background positions him to effectively serve and support the state's bowling community.

Over the years, he has been an active participant in local leagues and tournaments, fostering connections with bowlers of all ages and skill levels. His commitment to youth bowling has been especially notable, as he serves as a youth director, coach, and mentor, inspiring the next generation of athletes. Jim has also played an integral role in organizing and promoting various bowling events, including scholarship tournaments and innovative formats designed to engage bowlers and grow the sport.

In addition to his bowling background, Jim has a distinguished career in journalism, having served as the News Director for FM News 101 KXL in Portland. His ability to communicate effectively and manage complex projects has been a hallmark of his career. These skills, combined with his expertise in digital tools and social media platforms, have allowed him to develop innovative approaches to sharing information and connecting with audiences.

Jim's involvement in the community extends beyond the lanes and newsroom. He has a proven track record of leadership, as a foster parent, a volunteer in the congenital heart defect community, and the driving force behind multiple successful fundraising initiatives. His organizational skills, coupled with his commitment to making a difference, have earned him the respect and trust of others.

As the Oregon State USBC Association Manager, Jim is dedicated to promoting the sport of bowling, supporting bowlers across the state, and continuing to build a vibrant, inclusive community. His unique blend of bowling expertise and communication skills will ensure that the Oregon State USBC remains a vital resource for bowlers of all ages.
